Sunset Offers Unique Service To War Effort

Victory Players Act Before Civic Groups With Patriotic Theme

Sunset's contribution to the war effort is unique on this campus. They have formed a group called the Victory Players. They have given plays in collaboration with the Red Cross and in connection with the Third War Loan Drive.

Monday night the organization performed before the convention of the Sixth District Nurse corps. This afternoon they will present the same play before a group of women of the Trinity Lutheran church of Appleton.

The scripts were obtained from the New York Stage Door Canteen. The players plan to produce many more of these plays over the air and for various civic groups. Some of the plays are concerned with blackout instructions, safety in mills, do's and don'ts for rationing, and all other phases of the war effort. Many requests have been made by Appleton clubs for the presentation of these plays.

The casts are made up almost entirely of members of Sunset who are devoting their time to a very worthy cause, that of making the American public more aware of their responsibilities as citizens.

Service Band Plays at Game

Merchants of City, Manufacturers Pay Expenses of Trip

Arrangements have been completed for the Navy V-12 band to attend the Lawrence-Marquette game tomorrow. The band is back of the team and boosting for them to win. They are willing to put in extra time to help build up the morale of the school and the unit. Many of the college committee were opposed to the band's helping the team. In this time of war there is no place for petty jealousies and discrimination, as was pointed out by the civilian group of the college earlier. We must all back our military organizations, and when they are stopped because of lack of understanding, there is time then to make a change.

Expenses for the trip were contributed by manufacturers and merchants of the community, and great thanks should be given to the companies for their help.

Those contributing to send the band are the following: The Appleton Iron Works, the Fox River Valley Knitting Mills, the George Banta Publishing company, the Appleton Coated Paper company, the Hopfensperger Meat Markets, the Appleton Wire Works, the Four Wheel Drive company and the Kurz-Root Electric company.

The band members wish to take this opportunity to thank publicly this group for their loyal support and good will.

Get Football Tickets

Tickets for the Lawrence-Marquette football game, to be played in Marquette stadium Saturday evening, are available at the Marquette ticket office for $1.25. Service men will be admitted on the payment of 50 cents but must sit on the west side. A special Lawrence section has been reserved on the east side. The Lawrence navy band will accompany the Lawrence delegation.

"Around exams he's completely oblivious to the finer things in life!"

Homecoming Dance Ends Semester Social Season

With the close of the semester, the fall social season of Lawrence also ends. This last event which the Four Hundred of our fair school will attend, if they find themselves in the mood, is the annual homecoming dance to be held Saturday, October 16.

As this is to be the final splurge for many of the Navy men, the homecoming committee has promised that everything will be done in the best possible way in order to give the boys a good send off.

Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock and last until —; although it is not expected that anyone will arrive until after closing time at Babe's. Arch Adrian and his band, who have played for many of our college functions, will provide the music for those present.

The Alexander gym will be turned from a scene of basketball, swimming, and handball to a thing of beauty by means of interesting and different decorations.

The homecoming committee has in its possession the name of the girl who was chosen homecoming queen by a vote of the male students during convocation a while ago. Her identity will be disclosed during the half of the football game on Saturday afternoon. Her duty of the evening will be to present each member of the team a piece of the football cake. This is an old Lawrence tradition and one of the few

Stamp Purchase Will Speed Up Bond Raising

Just buy a ten-cent stamp. Sign your name on the back. And you are eligible to receive an $18.75 war bond — if you are lucky! A bond raffling will be held as soon as a sufficient number of stamps have been purchased.

These stamps may be bought at the Union counter or from dormitory salesmen. All purchases will count toward the dorm or floor total. So come on, students! Think of this great opportunity.

Although the plea is not a new one, the Red Cross urges girls to assist in folding surgical dressings. It is the aim of the war board to form a group of girls to help in this work regularly once a week. Students should see Barbara Rosebush if they wish to help in this much needed activity.

Here is just a reminder that the last part of November is scheduled for the Blood Donor unit to be stationed here. Students must be sure of their parents' consent if they are under 21 years of age.

which has been able to survive the war.

The dance will climax a weekend of gaiety and merriment, Friday night will see, it is hoped, all Lawrentians at a pep rally, followed by the traditional burning of the raft and effigy on the Fox.

The main event of the weekend will be the game between the Vikings and the V-12 unit of Notre Dame Saturday afternoon at Whiting field.

The enthusiasm showed at the last pep rally and game was gratifying to us as well as to the pep committee which put so much time and energy into making it a success. Let's all put everything we have behind our team; if we do that, they'll do again for us what they did last Saturday.

Ariel to be Issued

Ruth Schulze announces that the Ariel is at the printer's and will be out October 18.

F. L. Wright To Speak Here

Next Thursday Frank Lloyd Wright, will be a guest of Lawrence college. Acknowledged to be the greatest architect of the 20th century, Mr. Wright is called the "Father of Modern Architecture." He calls his style, representative of United States culture, "Usonian". He has designed buildings in New York, Chicago, Japan, Washington, D. C., California and other places all over the world.

Mr. Wright will talk on modern architecture in convocation on Thursday morning. Thursday evening he will conduct an open meeting and discussion under the sponsorship of the Art Guild. All interested students and faculty are invited to this gathering.

Homecoming Committee to Hold Pep Rally

Ceremony of Raft and Burning of Effigy to Follow Chapel Talks

Starting the Homecoming events rolling will be a big pep rally in the Chapel next Friday evening. Coach Bernie Heseltin will speak for the team, the Navy band will play, and the cheerleaders will be on hand to furnish pep-rousing cheers to get the Lawrence students really in the spirit for that big game against the Notre Dame Navy V-12 unit Saturday afternoon, October 16.

Later that evening the students will adjourn to the river bank for the traditional burning of the effigy

Notice!

Ed Nye, homecoming chairman, announces that the contest for a homecoming slogan has been definitely called off because of the great enthusiasm and miraculous school spirit which the students did not show. Although the slogan contest lasted for twelve days only five poor contributions were suggested.

and the floating of the flaming raft down the Fox. By then it will be time for the Navy to retire so the usual pajama-torchlight parade will be dispensed with.

Ed Nye and his corps of helpers have been working hard on the plans for the weekend and have been trying to make this Homecoming as nearly like those of past years as possible, but even so, for the duration there will be no Homecoming parade because of lack of materials for the floats.

Saturday morning Navy inspection will hold the spotlight at 11 o'clock. The feature event of the weekend will be the big game at 2 p. m. Saturday at Whiting field. A public address system will be used, and the Navy V-12 commandant for this district will be present for the first review of the Lawrence unit. The Homecoming Queen elected during Convocation recently will be announced during the half, and she will sponsor the Navy review.

Everyone is invited to the open houses which will be held at the Sig Ep, Beta and Delta houses immediately after the game. Saturday night Arch Adrian's orchestra will play for the Homecoming dance at the Alexander Gymnasium. To complete the big weekend semester exams will get under way first thing Monday morning.

Deans Announce New Counsellors

The deans office has announced the names of new counsellors who are being added to the counselling staff. Doris Carter, Alpha Delta Pi; Polly Durgin, Alpha Chi Omega; Corinne Nelson, Alpha Delta Pi; Dorothy Ruddy, Delta Gamma; and Lois Wilson, Kappa Delta, have been elected to counsel the freshmen women.

New men counsellors supplementing the present staff of four men are Dick Bick, Sigma Phi Epsilon, who will serve at the President's house; Dick Gaeth, Delta Tau Delta at the Phi Delta House, and Edward Nye, Delta Tau Delta at Lawe house. Counsellors Bob Hlavacek and Bob Morgan are being transferred to Lawe house for next semester. Dayton Grafman and John Williams will continue as counsellors at the Phi Delta house along with Gaeth.

Officers are Elected

8th Column Proposes To Sabotage Marquette

For the benefit of those few students who haven't already left on the 10:35, tomorrow Lawrence plays Marquette in Milwaukee. In case any teachers are bitter about absolutely no class attendance today, it's their own fault—they could have left on the 10:35, too—the Northwestern is remarkably broadminded about such things. They don't care who rides their old trains.

There are several schools of thought on why we will win the game tomorrow. The first is quickly dismissed. Several people on the South Campus think that we'll win because we have the better team. They are obviously victims of school spirit.

Another group of people who know they are easily deceived are afraid they have been deceived this time and staunchly maintain that rumors of Marquette's team, its size or even its existence are greatly exaggerated. They believe the whole thing is a great big hoax and that Lawrence's team will arrive in Milwaukee cringing, only to find that Milwaukee is nothing but a whistle stop and Marquette is located upstairs over the general store. I am afraid these people are wrong. Fairly well-informed sources have whispered to us that Marquette DOES have a male enrollment exceeding eleven.

Most of the Lawrentians, though, are on the right track when they realize that Lawrence will win because of honest sabotage, of course. After all with 654 Lawrentians loose in Milwaukee there should be practically nothing they can't do in the way of dirty and dishonest projects. Certain non-Greek letter fraternal organizations have already made excellent suggestions, such as beheading the entire Marquette team or tying knots in their football pants.

All such suggestions are being given our immediate attention. So far the plans are going pretty well. The mobilization chairman has given up all plans of having any constructive activity until the first Saturday matinee is over at the theater at Third and Wells, but at the very second that said show is over all Lawrentians will immediately proceed to the Marquette dressing room where they will put glue in the showers, itching powder in their kneecaps, and sew the sleeves of their sweaters together. After concluding this business the innocent group will nonchalantly proceed to the Lawrence dressing room where they will mount bayonets on all the helmets and give each player his supply of cherry bombs and matches.

It is expected after this preparation has been made that it will be a pretty good game. There is one other suggestion which has been made and over which the committee is still debating. The idea is to dress all the Lawrence fellows in blue suits with a big letter "S" on the tummy and red capes. The proponents of this plan maintain that the Marquettians are inveterate readers of comic books and will mistake our team for a band of fictitious characters and will either desert the field to run for cover or to get their autograph books. So that the team won't remain in ignorance we'll have the manager announce just before the stage show goes on whether or not that phase of the plan will be used.

Quotable Quotes

Editor's Note: The following are direct quotations made by a certain professor in labor problems class. The student who took down the sage sayings felt that they were too good to be withheld from the rest of the student body.

"By the way, just for the record—this may have no significance for any—but significance for some."

But to come back here—
You'll grant me. . . I'm getting good.

Weich, you're in a very vulnerable spot. Tell me, Welch, I know it isn't very nice to interrupt, but then we're never nice in classes.

In just a moment. . . I'll let you alone.

Where it gets tough we quit, and I'm quite willing to quit here.

It's the passing of what and the coming of what? That's right.

Can anyone conjure up a situation?

That I shan't go back to reexamine.

In other words, in other words, he will. . .

I can easily make clear, I think, what I have in mind.

Don't look at the board because if you look at the board, you will try to read my writing, and you can't read my writing so—

As I knew coal mining, in my coal mining days.

How many men you want does not depend upon the price for a man.

If you want to make a contrast, since I've stumbled onto railroading. . .

Excuse me, I was about to make a blatant error.

You save me, my reputation is at stake here.

I'd be flattered to repeat those.

This is a jump in the argument—but I would rather jump than work my way through it.

Would it be clear if I would reiterate—not that reiteration makes clear but—

That cat-killing curiosity of the senior V-12 men concerning their status at the end of this semester has finally gotten under our hides—mainly because we are of that group—so we trotted down to the C.O.'s office to see what we could learn about it. Therefore the following enjoys a place a little bit better than that of the scuttlebutt that has been floating around—unless Lt. Taylor is akin to using it himself.

First of all, the office knows just about as much as the seniors do as far as what is going to happen to them. About a month ago, the C.O. was requested to send to the Bureau of Naval Personnel a list of the seniors most eligible for midshipman training on the basis of their math and physics background. This list was approximately one-half of that class. Lt. Taylor hastened to add that this does not mean that everyone on that list will be sent off for such training, nor that those who were not on the list will not receive it.

Since the courses at officers training school are mainly concerned with physics and math in some way or another, it seems reasonable to ASSUME that those trainees with the best background in those fields will have the best chance of being sent there in the first group. From that it would APPEAR that those who have not filled those requirements will do so before being sent off for officer training, foregoing the possibility of being sent until such a date as when those requirements are fulfilled.

Just where those in the latter group would wind up, Lt. Taylor could not say, but he thought that there was as good a chance that they would stay here as be sent elsewhere. The orders, he stated, would come to the seniors from the Bureau of Naval Personnel through the C.O.'s office, and they would know as soon as they came. Just when that would be is another mystery.

We have been wondering if it would be possible to patent an animate object. If so, we figure on taking out a patent on Maxie as the first foolproof perpetual motion machine. He always seems to be well under way when we fall in for chow shortly after 0700 and he doesn't slow down all day. To some of the boys who have been having a good deal of difficulty in navigating the steeplechase course, his energy is nothing less than the eighth wonder of the world. If he should ever stop running, only the lower and front halves of him do, for that tail of his just wags on and on. It might be an interesting problem for a physics student to figure out the angular velocity of that appendage, if you could stop him long enough to do so.

Omar Dengo Tells of Job As Bureaucrat

"I am now a full fledged bureaucrat and have started to live from the budget like so many other Costa Ricans," writes Omar Dengo, the young Costa Rican who made campus history during the four years he attended Lawrence.

Having forsaken momentarily, a career by his drawing pencil, he has become a government worker in his native Costa Rica. The following excerpts are from a letter received by Jim Dite from Omar.

"I started working last Monday and so far all I've done is stamp two papers and collect my paycheck of 200 colones ($50) for the second half of September since I was appointed, during which I have performed the above mentioned work. I am at the newly created department of labor and social prevention; I am the head of the second part of that name, a sort of coordinator of institutions of social work."

"The reason why I haven't done a thing yet is that we are waiting to be moved into new offices which aren't furnished yet, and you know I don't have to be inveigled into pooping, as I was born with a natural aptitude and attitude for it, and when the minister says 'rest day today' what else can you do about it?"

"There is a lot of interesting and useful work to be done in this office, and I think I can do it and certainly will try to do my best; there is a big chance to help the poor people better their condition and I like that."

"Nevertheless it is not quite the job I wanted as it is more sociology than economics, but I am in the department of labor as I wanted to be, and I am sure I will also be able to work in other things outside of my own particular office. It is also possible that I will teach at the university the next school year, which starts in March."

Marital Status Of Local Men Tested by Coeds

Are you a man? If you are a man, are you the kind of man any girl would like to have for a husband? You aren't sure? Well, if your girl can't make up her mind whether or not she will consider you, bring her over to the Beta House some afternoon and you will get your answer.

The girls at the Beta House have devised a scheme by which they can tell at a moment's glance whether or not you are a dream man! The magic touch lies not with the critics, but with the male individual involved.

When you enter the portals of the Beta House, and we DO urge you to enter, a mob of females will probably pounce upon you; but do not be alarmed. All they want you to do is sit down—well, anyway, sit in one special chair. No, there's nothing tricky about this chair; the cushion won't fall to the ground, no bomb will go off. It's a perfectly normal chair in all respects. Undoubtedly, oh's and ah's will issue forth from the mouths of the residents of said house, but pay no attention to them. Just sit down and "relax, and let yourself go," to quote a popular song of a few years back.

Many well known personages on the campus have tried this experiment and have found it to be highly successful. Dick Galloway was one of the best guinea pigs that allowed himself to be tried in this manner. Another of the successful candidates was Bill Van Vliet. If these boys have what it takes, why don't you get up some courage and see for yourself how you stand with the little woman.

If you have the right technique, you will be given the boisterous approval of your audience. If not, too bad. The technique? Well, try the chair and find out for yourself!

Sage Erects New Bulletin Board

Because of the confusion caused, fraternal and club items will no longer be announced at mealtime. Instead LWA has purchased a bulletin board which has been placed at the head of the stairs leading to the dining hall. Each organization will have space on the board for announcements. In the future the Sage bulletin board will be for Sage notices only.

Victory Dance, Oct. 16

ON THE QUARTERDECK

By Dan Welch

Inspecting the medical department here today are Rear Admiral E. C. White, medical corps U. S. Navy, inspector of the medical department activities for the central United States, and Lieut. Comdr. T. E. Kent, hospital corps U. S. Navy, assistant inspector.

This is almost the first time the old ship has been host to so much gold braid all in one fell swoop. Admiral White and Commander Kent are arriving here after a tour of the Manitowoc, Wis., medical department.

Perhaps this once navy protocol could be relaxed enough for us to say "Glad to have you aboard, sir."

Mr. MacFarland won't say it himself, out of sheer modesty, so we're going to say it ourselves. That gentleman has set up something of a record in football prediction, since out of 20 such speculations only one has gone awry, that one being last week's Marquette-Great Lakes game in which he predicted a win by the former.

With what we suspect was malice aforethought, both teams ganged up on him and did him the great disservice of ending that notable contest in a 7-7 tie. Allowing half credit for this score, the way we figure Mac has chalked up a 97.5 per cent accuracy record in his predictions.

We were somewhat intrigued with this showing and decided to find out just how these predictions were made. It seems they are not based on guess-work at all. Instead, Mac takes it upon himself to read the sports pages of all the Chicago papers, both Milwaukee papers, in addition to listening to games and clipping the opinions of other sports writers.

Just like in a mathematical equation, the answer is based upon an evaluation of the members of the left side, who are critics, sports-writers, columnists, news reel commentators and radio announcers.

Chief Hovland didn't like the way the newspapers and clippings containing these bits of information were stacked upon Mr. MacFarland's desk, so he removed them to the floor.

Mac was taken aback by this action because it wasn't in his planned itinerary for the day. Upon this occasion, he was scooped royally by the chief, who commented that he predicted the newspapers wouldn't be there again. The scoop backfired, however. Chief Hovland predicted incorrectly.

In the midst of all this destruction When none gives a damn for construction,

The senior tearfully moans And fears in his bones That there is some truth in his deduction.

He's like to think only the best And console all the rest These hopes he could shelve That senior is stuck in V-12 With another semester he's blest.

Look for 36 new freshmen navy trainees and several new men from the fleet here after the semester.

From the Editor's Easy Chair

Nice going team! The Lawrence student body is really proud to have a football squad that can make a fighting drive to victory the way you did last Saturday. We'll all be rooting for you in the Marquette game tomorrow.

It seems to us that one of the items of college life which can be discarded during the war with little loss is the hazing of freshmen. This hazing by the upperclassmen serves little good and quite often does quite a bit of harm.

With so few civilian men on campus, and most of these are freshmen, there is no sense in making them any more conspicuous than they already are now by making large portions of them wear green hats. This is one activity in which the navy can not participate, and it is certainly unfair to make the eligible freshmen bear all the onus for being what they are.

We know all the old arguments about hazing being necessary to take the cockiness out of freshmen and to make them appreciate the true worth of the upperclassmen. However, there are better ways to remove frosh cockiness than by depantsing them, and if an upper-classman can't get the respect they think they deserve in some other way than by paddling them, maybe they don't merit any. This matter of buttoning and green caps usually degenerated into a farce in two or three days anyway with few paying any attention to the rules except how to evade them.

What we need are more activities knitting the student body closer together—not creating artificial chasms between classes.

Stewart Work Is Displayed

Now on view in the Lawrence college library and running until the end of the month, is a one-man show of oils by Grace Bliss Stewart of New York. Although the pictures follow a middle-of-the-road approach to expression, neither cloyingly sweet nor loudly self-assertive, they are by no means neutral. Every canvas is built up firmly in design and color, and most of the works have something interesting to say.

"Light Housekeeping" makes too obvious a literary appeal to be counted entirely successful as a painting. Lilies and other flowers recur almost to the point of monotony. "City Snow" and "The Road Home" are a bit derivative in inspiration. But a picture like "Peace and Plenty" issuing directly from the artist's personal experience, boldly brushed in, is more than enough to repay the visitor's time.

Miss Stewart, a native of Kansas, is an artist whose worldwide travels before the present war and New York training and experience in recent years have shown in her work. The breadth of outlook and variety of motive so developed and expressed in her art account for her recognition by New York dealers, who have given her six solos like the one now featured here. At the International Exhibition in Toronto, Canada, in 1937, she was one of twenty painters invited to participate.

Pre-Med Students Requested to Take Test November 5

An aptitude test, designed to measure one's ability to learn the type of material which one will study in medical school, will be given by the association of American Medical colleges November 5 at 3 p. m. The test will be administered in room 22 of Science hall, and all pre-med students who have not already done so, are urged to take it.

Students who plan to take the test should make application to the biology department with Miss Olga Smith, Mr. Edwin Miller or Mr. Walter Rogers. If application is not made reasonably early, no test blanks can be obtained. A fee of one dollar is required of each student taking the test. Due to the war situation, it is extremely important that the test be taken at the scheduled time.

Viking Alums Hold Banquet

Lawrence College Alumni of Marquette, Michigan and vicinity held a dinner meeting on Thursday evening at the Hotel Northland in Marquette. The meeting, held on the occasion of the Upper Peninsula state teachers convention, also attracted several of the teachers who are former students of Lawrence.

Lieut. Angus B. Rothwell, commanding officer of the naval training unit at the college, was the principal speaker. Also representing the college at the meeting were Ralph J. Watts, acting president, Dean Paul Anderson, Marshall B. Hulbert, assistant dean, John Mook, admissions counselor and W. Henry Johnston, director of publicity.

One Cravenette raincoat; very good one according to Drippingly Yours, Dick Galloway, who is the owner of said article. Missing since the last rain. Would like it back before the next one.

Forum to Meet

The Lawrence all-college forum has tentatively set the date of its next meeting for Thursday, October 14. The subject will be "Russia's Relations with Great Britain and the United States."

Notice!

The convocation committee announces that all notices which are to be read in Chapel must be turned into the dean's office at least half an hour before Chapel. Only those announcements relating to major student activities will be given.

Time of game—8 p.m.
Radio broadcast—WEMP, Milwaukee.

The all-sailor Lawrence team will get its shot at the big time tomorrow night when it runs up against the heavier Marquette crew in Milwaukee in what is destined to be almost an all-servicemen scrap. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Lawrence and Marquette first met in football in 1902, and the Vikings won eight, lost 13 and tied one encounter before the series ended temporarily in 1933.

Among Coach Bernie Heselton's navy crew are three former Marquette freshmen stars — Halfback Don Guepe, brother of the Hilltoppers' famous Guepe twins of the Cotton Bowl backfield of 1936, Tackle Bill Daub and Center Dennis Shanahan.

None too Optimistic

Coach Heselton is none too optimistic about the chances of shaking down Marquette, rated as one of the toughest teams in the country, but the Lawrentians have been drilling hard all week on defense to make certain that Hilltoppers don't fling up any points the easy way.

Tom Stidham, Marquette coach, has been warned by his scouts that Lawrence is a dangerous club, even though it is light, and will probably be at its peak for the tussle tomorrow night.

"Marquette has its third or fourth best team of the past 15 years, and we probably won't reach our average first-game strength until after the homecoming game with Notre Dame's V-12 team," Bernie said this week. "But we're going to make things as tough as we can for them, try to score ourselves, and perhaps we'll have a few breaks to help out."

Lawrence Runners

Cut Time on Course

Cross country runners at Lawrence are working out daily, preparing for the schedule ahead, and all of the men have cut down their times on the two-and-a-half mile course by an average of almost a minute.

Records of men on the squad:
Birch, 13:48.3; Lawson, 13:31.5; Gage, 15:51.5; Lloyd, 14:32; Dite, 14:55; Eisenach, 14:39.4; Peterson, 14:25; Laws, 14:50; Lange, 14:41.5; Luedtke, 14:41; Haberman, 14:15.5.

Sportin' Around

BY DICK McFARLAND

Tomorrow morning at 10:42 o'clock the football squad will board the train for Milwaukee, where they're scheduled, as some writers suggest, to "make their fling at the big time" in a scrap with Marquette university.

In the afternoon they'll be followed by a good-sized chunk of the Lawrence student body, including the navy band. And to the students who aren't making the trip, the pep committee makes the invitation to come out for the morning send-off.

The Lawrence-Marquette contest will be staged for the benefit of the Milwaukee Officers' club, the Civil Air Patrol and an aid program for prospective aviation cadets. Accompanying the Lawrence V-12 band in half-time entertainment will be the Civil Air Patrol drill team and band and the Marquette navy band.

A S Robert Beavies, known for his "Layft, Rot" cadence calling, makes this suggestion for morning calisthenics of the week: Grasp a textbook firmly in both hands, lay it open on a desk and turn the pages at regular intervals.

Michigan and Notre Dame, expected to bring some 70,000 fans to the Ann Arbor stadium tomorrow afternoon, will draw the football spotlight this weekend as 12 top teams in the midwest square off for another round of closely-contested matches.

Only Big Ten engagement of the day will be the fray between Illinois and Wisconsin at Madison, Minnesota and Northwestern will take a holiday.

In tomorrow's lineup of football skirmishes, we'll pick:

Michigan over Notre Dame. With not too much comfort, we'll favor the power of the Wolverine service-studded outfit over the tricky pass offensive of the Irish. Many observers are giving Notre Dame the edge because of Michigan's unimpressive showing against Northwestern last week. But we're regarding the lack of spark as the result of an off day.

Wisconsin over Illinois. The Badgers turned in two spirited performances against Camp Grant and Iowa, and they're playing on the home field. The score should be close.

Indiana over Nebraska. However inexperienced they may be, the Hoosiers have proved that they are a game outfit, capable of handling Nebraska, who lost to

Dionne Makes Gains For Lawrence Team; Kibbe Boots Extras

After a comparatively slow first half in which St. Mary's clearly dominated the play, Lawrence college came back with a sudden burst of self-confidence and power to romp over the Red and Whites, 14-0, and even the two game series.

With Dionne barging through St. Mary's for most of the gains and the final push from the two-yard line, the Vikings went into the lead with a touchdown in the third quarter.

The Lawrentians added their final score in the final period, when Dionne again was largely responsible for totting the ball to the 35, which placed the sailors in position to score on Dionne's pass to lanky end Hesselman. Kibbe booted both extra points.

In the opening half, St. Mary's had control of the ball most of the time, and once advanced the ball to Lawrence's 24-yard marker. The Vikings remained in their own territory practically all of the short time they were on the offensive.

When they loosed their attack in the second half, Coach Bernie Heselton's outfit resorted chiefly to power plays and end runs to produce the first six-point margin. The passing that set up the final marker was reserved for the final stanza.

Beat Marquette

Minnesota, 54-0, last Saturday.

Seahawks over Iowa. It's a matter of experience and maturity against a few veterans and recently-graduated high school gridders.

Great Lakes over Ohio State. The Sailors whipped Pitt, 40-0, last week, have enough power to win by a touchdown or two.

Purdue over Camp Grant. Don't be surprised if the soldiers make things fairly hot for Purdue. They died Marquette, 7-7, and the Boilermakers allowed Illinois 21 points last week.

Vikes to Play Navy V-12 Team Of Notre Dame

Lawrence college will close its shortest football season in history Saturday afternoon, when the Notre Dame Navy V-12 squad meets the Vikings on Whiting Field. Lawrence, now in its 51st consecutive season, found itself the only Wisconsin college with a team this year and had difficulty arranging a schedule. As defending champions of the Midwest conference, the Vikings had to scrap its original 7 game program when all of the conference colleges suspended the sport.

The Notre Dame encounter is the fourth on the abbreviated schedule, which has the Vikes meeting only one opponent (Marquette) that they had ever met before. Lawrence did meet Notre Dame in baseball in the old days, but Saturday's game will be the first with a Notre Dame football team.

Coach Bernie Heselton is at a loss to know what to expect from the Irish. All that is known is that the team is recruited from the V-12 Naval Training unit as is most of the Lawrence squad. The team is coached by Lt. Sylvester Jablonski, a former Milwaukeean.

Viking Center Line Faces Entire Change For Saturday Game

The center of the Lawrence college line was somewhat changed when St. Mary's faced the Vikes in the latter's home opener on Whiting field Saturday afternoon. In order to get John Storzer of Oconto Falls into the line-up, Coach Bernie Heselton shifted William Daub from guard to tackle. The center of the line now has Dennis Shanahan at center; Jerome Fick and Storzer at guard; and Wayne DeBeer and Daub at tackle.

Heselton spent most of the week on pass offense and defense after several days of fundamentals. Lawrence lost the game to St. Mary's two weeks ago but claims two of the three touchdowns scored against them were the result of gambling to overcome a 7 point deficit. They justified their confidence in their ability to reverse the earlier result, Saturday.

Vikings Play Former Foes At Marquette

Lawrence College and Marquette will resume football relations, following a lapse of ten years, when the Vikings appear at Marquette Stadium for a game next Saturday evening. It was back in the days when Percy Clapp was coaching Lawrence and Frank Murray was directing the Hilltops that the teams last met. And Ralph Metcalf as waterboy attracted almost as much attention as the two teams together.

The coming game will be the 23rd in the series which started back in 1902. The present standing shows Marquette with 13 victories, Lawrence with 8, and a 1913 tie. Lawrence has been unable to post a victory in any of the last ten games, although the Vikes dropped the most recent one by just a lone touchdown and a safety of their own making.

One game, the 1918 encounter, caused a bit of national furor over an interpretation of the rules. Lawrence walked off the field late in the game while leading by a score of 12 to 7, and the game thus went to Marquette by a score of 1 to 0. The cause of the Lawrence huff was the numerous altercations with the referee, most of them over the controversial peanut play. Mark Catlin, the old Chicago hero, was coaching Lawrence and had, prior to the game, received an authoritative endorsement on the play from Walter Camp. This bore no weight with the man in charge of the game, which led to the difficulty. This, coupled with several 20 yard penalties which Catlin claimed were not even in the rulebook, led to the unusual action.
